Steve and David,

The attached PDPUtility_TOCs.xls file is an updated version of your file with the 160 missing Country Names added to the "Countries_Help" datasheet. I imported your datasheet into MS-Access, ran a quick query to pull all the associated Country Names, and then pasted the retrieved Country Names back to the Excel file.

The attached PDP Country Codes.xlsx file shows the complete list of Country Codes and Names from the PDP Database. It shows codes/names for an additional 166 countries that are not included on your datasheet, which just means that PDP has never had samples originating from those countries.

All the data presented in your PDPUtility_TOCs.xls file have already been published/released by USDA-AMS and could be pulled from the PDP Annual Summaries or public-domain PDP databases available for download on the PDP Website, so the file could definitely be shared with anyone outside of EPA.

I hope that helps. Take care.

David,

If you see Roger, can you ask him to take a look at this file. The tab=Countries_Help contains country codes for which I am not sure what the corresponding Countries are....the annual updates in our user share drive do not have Country lists and my list is very dated. Can you ask him if he can send us that information so I can update this table. Also, ask him if it is okay to share this file with Bruce Young (Bayer) and the CARES/Crème folk. This file contains some information on the Pesticides (PESTNAMES, CFR #) and Tolerances that you forwarded to me last year; I use that info in the PDP Utility (STAT report). Thanks! –Steve
